FICTION

PAID OUT

By J. PERCIVAL BESSELL

Illustrated jacket in colors. Net $1.50

A detective story with a psychological interest and pull that is irresistible. A guilty conscience; remorse for the betrayal of a friendship; constant and unceasing dodging of a Nemesis; the black dread of never-ending apprehension; all are depicted here with a strength of power which holds the reader.

SOMETHING DOING

By VARICK VANARDY

Author of "The Lady of the Night Wind," etc.

Illustrated jacket in colors. Net $1.50

From the opening sentence to the closing one, this account of the further adventures of "The Two-Faced Man" is compelling, thrilling and pleasing. It is clean, and wholesome, depicting many and varying phases of life with a vividness and clarity not to be excelled.

FLAMES OF THE BLUE RIDGE

By ETHEL and JAMES DORRANCE

Illustrated jacket in colors. Net $1.50

A stirring tale of moonshining from a new angle, of rivalry, of a man's regeneration despite the aiding of friendship, and of a love which at the end burned clear and steady in the midst of wrack and storm. It is not too much to say that the authors have captured the very spirit of the mountains and of the people.

IN THE SHADOW OF THE HILLS

By GEORGE C. SHEDD

Author of "The Lady of Mystery House," etc.

Illustrated jacket in colors. Net $1.50

"In the Shadow of the Hills" is one of those rare stories, less fictive than real because of the magic touch of a humanity which could steel itself to the righting of wrong and the avenging of the innocent. There is not a stagnant passage in the book—and woven into its brilliant tapestry of swift action and color, gun-play, and lawless dealing, is a highly intriguing love story.

THE AZURE ROSE

By REGINALD WRIGHT KAUFFMAN

Author of "Victorious," etc.

Illustrated jacket in colors. Net $1.50

A delightful love romance, American in tempo, but set against the picturesque background of the Parisian Latin Quarter.

THE LADY OF THE NIGHTWIND

By VARICK VANARDY

Author of "The Two-Faced Man," etc.

Illustrated jacket in colors. Net $1.50

Another—and the greatest and best one—of Varick Vanardy's compelling and thrilling NIGHT WIND romances which will hold you under the lampshade in the easy chair until you have finished reading it. The "Lady of the Nightwind" is the same "Lady Kate of the Police," more mature, more developed and still more fascinating.

JUVENILES

A New Series of Popular Children's Books

BEDTIME WONDER TALES

By CLIFTON JOHNSON

Illustrated by Harry L. Smith. Price 60 cents per copy

GOLDEN HAIR AND THE THREE BEARS
THE FOX AND THE LITTLE RED HEN
THE BRAVE TIN SOLDIER
THE BABES IN THE WOOD
HOP-O'-MY-THUMB

THE STORY OF CHICKEN-LICKEN
JACK AND THE BEANSTALK
LITTLE RED RIDING-HOOD
PUSS IN BOOTS
CINDERELLA

The books in this series of "Bedtime Wonder Tales" are made up of favorite stories from the folklore of all nations. Such stories are particularly enjoyed by children from four to twelve years of age. As here told, they are free from the savagery, distressing details and excessive pathos which mar many of the tales in the form that they have come down to us from a barbaric past. But there has been no sacrifice of the simplicity and humor and sweetness that give them perennial charm.

POND PUBLICATIONS

THE WORKS OF ANTHONY EUWER

Anthony Euwer is one of America's rising young poets. His books, often whimsical, show touches of real genius. In attractive bindings, they are desirable gift books. An excellent pick-up line.

THE LIMERATOMY

Illustrated throughout by the Author. 96 pp. Cloth, $1.00; Limp Leather $2.00

"The Limeratomy" is really a Limerick Anatomy. It humorously deals with all parts of the body from "The Nut" to "the Pigeon Toes," and tells of all human complaints from the cold in the head to bow-legs. It is for everyone who has an anatomy. It is a scream from cover to cover. It is the best limerick book in recent years.

RHYMES OF OUR VALLEY

Frontispiece by the Author. 96 pp. Cloth, $1.00; Limp Leather, $2.00.

This is Anthony Euwer's big book of verse showing life among the fruit growers of the Northwest. It is full of the tragedy and humor in their lives. "The poems which make up this attractive volume are American in theme, and American, too, in their fresh, buoyant spirit and strong colloquialism."—Literary Digest.

CHRISTOPHER CRICKET ON CATS

Illustrated throughout by the author. 56 pp. Paper Boards only. 75 cents.
Introduction by Wallace Irwin.

"Cats" is a huge smile from cover to cover. You can read it in thirty minutes but you won't forget it in thirty years. It drops into verse, it ambles in prose, it hesitates over many whimsical drawings by the author.

OTHER PUBLICATIONS

VISIONS - by Count Ilya Tolstoy

Illustrated by Ossip Perelma. 201 pp. Cloth, $1.35 net.

A volume of Russian stories by the son of Count Leo Tolstoy.

"Count Ilya Tolstoy has his father's grit for putting before the eyes whatever he wishes his readers to see. These stories are little masterpieces."—Boston Transcript.

TO THE NATIONS - Paul Richard

From the French. Introduction by Rabindranath Tagore. 79 pp. Cloth, $1.00 net.

A volume of essays on nationalism, brought to America by Tagore, and similar in spirit to his lecture on the same subject.

MY DICKENS FRIENDS - Frank Speaight

Beautifully illustrated by R. A. Weed. 112 pp. Cloth, $1.25 net.

Dickens' characters are here eulogized in verse by Frank Speaight, the greatest living Dickens actor. The illustrations are of him in character.

J. RITCHIE SMITH, D.D.

Professor of Homiletics

Princeton Theological Seminary

Cloth, 280 pages, $1.50 net

This volume was published in answer to many requests that the spoken word might be put into permanent form. These sermons proved helpful to many when they were delivered, and in print will secure a wider audience and by the blessing of God may fulfil a larger ministry.

The general theme of the volume may be defined as Truth and Life in Christ Jesus. The purpose in view is to draw from the Scriptures those truths which are vitally related to character and conduct and apply them to the individual life.

Day After Day

A Manual of Devotion for Individual and Family Use

Compiled and Arranged by

J. WILBUR CHAPMAN, D. D.

For the New Era Committee

Cloth, 106 pages. 40 cents postpaid
$35.00 a hundred, carriage extra
Leather, $1.00 postpaid

The untimely death of the compiler of this little manual lends additional significance to the Foreword in which Dr. Chapman argues for the re-establishment of the family altar, and from which we quote:

WORSHIP IN THE HOME

It is a sad thing to realize that some children have never heard their fathers pray. I sincerely pity the father of whom this can be said, and the child who is thus deprived of an influence which almost inevitably makes for strength of character. J. W. C.

PUBLISHER'S NOTE

If Dr. Chapman could have known in advance the day when God would call him from earth, he could not have chosen a more fitting task for the rounding out of his ministry than the preparation of DAY AFTER DAY.

The General Epistles

(An Exposition)

By

CHARLES R. ERDMAN, D.D.

Professor of Practical Theology

Princeton Theological Seminary

Cloth, 185 pages. 75 cents net

Professor Erdman does not attempt to explain any of the Epistles away. It is getting so it is hardly safe to pick up a book dealing with God's word these days. Every professor has to so tear it apart that you have somewhat the feeling of the woeful participant in a terrible dissection. Professor Erdman's outlines are not only clean, but directly simple. His interpretation is reasonable and faith-inspiring."—Outlook.

"They are full of light for dark days, comfort for seasons of sorrow, and like the One who inspired them, a very present help in time of need."—Religious Telescope.

Why Everybody is Reading Business Books

ALL of a sudden it has been discovered that business men are reading business books. They are all doing it—manufacturers, retailers, officers of corporations, brokers, importers, wholesalers. It is universal habit. It seems to have sprung up suddenly. As a matter of fact, the taste for business reading has been growing steadily for years. But the general public did not notice the new fashion. Reading is a quiet habit, pursued in private, with nothing about it to attract attention.

Building on the experience of others

But there are good reasons for the reading of business books. New conditions have sprung up in business life—due to new methods, improvements, industrial changes, competition, rising costs, etc. Most men now feel the need of knowledge other than their own experience supplies. They feel like a captain who adventures new seas and needs charts where before he steered from memory. So they have recourse to business books—books wherein they find solutions to business problems and answers to business questions that perplex and harass, and which if not adjusted often spell disaster.

Shaw Standard Business Books

meet the demands of even the most severely-taxed business men. They reveal the methods, plans and systems which other men have worked out, often after considerable expenditures in time and money. Methods contained in Shaw books have been known to save and make thousands of dollars, raise standards of efficiency to heights it seemed impossible to attain, cut payrolls, increase sales, reduce costs. And they cover every phase and department of business—accounting, advertising, retailing, factory and office management, letter-writing, selling.

Make up a trial assortment from the titles below. Display them on the counter or in the window. You will be surprised at the quick turnover you will get.

The Tale of the Spinning Wheel

BY

ELIZABETH C. BARNEY BUEL

State Regent, Connecticut Daughters of the American Revolution.

Illustrated by

EMILY NOYES VANDERPOEL

Author of "Color Problems" and "Chronicles of a Pioneer School."

Press Notices

"A dainty and attractive little sketch and will be found a choice gift for the holidays."—Hartford Courant.

"'The Tale of the Spinning Wheel' is a prettily bound book containing a graciously worded paper on the art of linen and woolen manufacture as practised in New England.* * * With due reference to the antiquity of the art, Mrs. Buel weaves some pleasing details of the nearer colonial period with quotations of interest from letters and diaries."—Springfield Republican

"The author's main idea is that the simple homeliness of the time of the spinning wheel, with all the dignity of labor which its use implied, ought not to be allowed to escape from our modern civilization. There is certainly much truth in this conception, and Mrs. Buel has done a good thing in bringing it home so forcibly to her hearers and readers."—Providence Journal.

The book is an example of the artistic work of the University Press, being bound in white and gold, with design of musket and distaff. The illustrations are printed in sepia on the broad margins or let into the text, which is printed in handsome type.

Size 6⅝x9 inches; 60 pp. Prile $1.00; postage additional, 8 cents.

PRESS NOTICES.

CHRISTIAN WORLD—This is a timely, impersonal, dispassionate, analytical, unanswerable discussion of the weaknesses and inconsistencies of the Christian Science Church. It overflows with facts which provide the ground-work of the author's incisive arraignment . . . and is as clear as sunshine and as irrefutable as the decalogue. It is thoroughly up to date in its citations and statistics as these have been brought down to June, 1916.

THE EVANGELICAL MESSENGER—The spirit in which his exposures of inconsistencies in the organization are made is very commendable, and adds merit and pungency to his arguments and forceful statements. It is the only book of its kind on the market as far as we have any knowledge. The author has been very careful in supporting his statements of fact with profuse quotations. . . . His exposures of inconsistencies are mainly applicable to the church manual. It will be a very difficult task for any advocate of that church organization to refute the conclusive arguments of this trenchant writer and authoritative author. His versatility and frankness constitute quite an asset to his undertaking. . . . We wish the book God-speed on its mission of love and of usefulness.

THE PRESBYTERIAN ADVANCE—He brings and sustains many charges against the church he left. . . . There is added interest in the fact that Mr. Goodwin frequently appeals from the customs of that church to the teachings of the New Testament as well as to the teachings of Mrs. Eddy. Good will come if many evangelical church members will read this book. . . .

GALAXY OF COMING EVENTS

The Book of Revelation as I See It.

By William Francis Manley

1616 New Jersey Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

TEN NATIONS CONFEDERATED

for three and a half years; and dreadful things will occur. Then Jesus Christ will reign for a thousand years.

This book is of more importance to you than all your earthly possessions. READ IT. Price, $1.50.

The meaning and outcome of this European War terminating in a WORLD CONFEDERATION, according to Prophecy.

On the 30th day of September, 1914, the Author mailed twelve pages of this book, which is a clear outline of it; and a typewritten note, calling attention to its importance, to each of the Rulers of Europe, and to the President of the United States. Telling them that three of the Nations going into this war will be annihilated, plucked up by the roots; and destroyed.

Telling them that, this war, the greatest known in all history, is the beginning of the end of all human governments.

That this war will spread over all Europe; and part of Asia; and probably America. Over one-fourth part of the earth. That there would be no more peace on earth, until Jesus Christ returns to Reign for a thousand years.

That famine, with all its horrors; and pestilence will follow this war, destroying millions of people.

We want hundreds of agents; and Book Stores; and News Agencies, to sell these books.

METAPHYSICAL NOVELS

By CHARLES FRANCIS STOCKING, E. M.

"CARMEN ARIZA." (Sixth Edition Now Ready.)
The dramatic story of a girl who rescued a priest from his chains of bigotry and death through her working knowledge of obsolete, war causing human beliefs, of the poisonous weeds of mentalized religion, and the suppositional opposite nature of evil and the methods of combating it. Its treatment of the questions of a "future state," of death, matter, and the origin and destiny of the human mind is the most remarkable and successful ever embodied in a novel. Colored frontispiece, cloth, $2.00 net. Leather, $2.75 net. De Luxe, leather, gilt edges, $3.25 net. Postage 15c.

"THE MAYOR OF FILBERT." (Has Been Filmed.)
Strange story of the proprietor of two saloons and a brewery saved from the curse of his own business. "It is to the liquor traffic what Uncle Tom's Cabin was to slavery." The book that will make your town "dry." Offers that sort of education which is a stronger protection to government than a standing army. Particularly for wives and mothers to give their husbands and sons, as it is a book for men. Cloth, 3 illustrations. $1.25 net. Postage 10c.

"THE DIARY OF JEAN EVARTS." (Eighth Edition Now Ready.) In this beautifully written treatise, composed by the author in the sun-kissed hills of California, a young girl in the last stages of tuberculosis, hopeless of human aid and denouncing God and man-made creeds, receives a new truth—and with it a new sense of life. How this was accomplished is the vital message which this book has carried around the world to thousands of helpless, discouraged, sin-weary sufferers, becoming truly a "light shining in dark places." Cloth, $1.50 net. Postage 10c.

PHOTOMICROGRAPHS

Crystallizable Chemical Salts

By
ARTHUR WILLIAM DOUBLEDAY, D.M.D.

Crystals from a Human Secretion — Crystals from A Known Solution

This Atlas contains two hundred and forty-eight pages, including one hundred and fourteen Photomicrographs of known Crystallizable Chemical Salts.

In compiling these photomicrographs no attempt has been made to exhaust the possible chemical combinations, but rather to present typical crystalline forms of various salts known to exist in the body tissues and fluids under normal and pathological conditions, thereby placing at the disposal of the student of research, auxiliary help toward the characteristics which confront him through the microscope.

WHAT LIFE SEEMS TO ME

OR

Continuous Personality and Social Evolution

By S. F. SHOREY

Excerpted from the book:

If the human life has no further purpose than that which may be achieved in about three score years and ten, it has but little value.

It is not, in fact, worth the trouble of being born, and of fighting for existence. For unless personality survives bodily death, unless evolutionary results are individually retained; this life—with the struggle and suffering through which many human beings are obliged to pass—is not only worthless, but considerably in the nature of an imposition. . . .

There is in the move of life, however, that which has the appearance of purpose or design, in that it seems to be enticing and driving all men to build to purposeful ends. . . .

Though the program of life may be thrown on the screen of present appearances and happenings, no one appears to be sufficiently unfolded in consciousness to read this program very clearly; and far ahead. The move of the human life seems to be directed largely beyond human consciousness.

The Analysis of Beauty

A REPRINT, including the plates formerly in portfolio, arranged in convenient form. Few books of this character, first issued 150 years ago, contain enough of interest and instruction for the modern reader and art student to warrant a reprint. Hogarth's rare book is an exception. This reprint has been highly commended for its convenient form and general make up.

WAYNE WHIPPLE BOOKS

The Story of Young George Washington

The Boston Advertiser in a long notice said: "This is not a history, except in so far as it includes the events of Washington's life up to the time of his marriage. It is a story for boys of the boy George; not the young prig of Mr. Weems' tales, but a living boy whose doings all American children can understand. His disappointment when his mother begs him not to go to sea, his surveying expeditions, his early fights with the Indians, and his later exploits at the Allegheny and at Fort Duquesne, are all recounted with liveliness, and with an understanding of the human values. The 'Father of His Country' becomes something more than a mere figurehead, a hero of history; he is brought back from the land of mythology, and made to live." And the Springfield Republican says: "The author has exercised excellent judgment in selecting his matter, and a capital story results."

The Story of Young Abraham Lincoln

The story of Abraham Lincoln's life is one of the most inspiring in American annals. Mr. Whipple has made a life study of Lincoln, and his graphic and vigorous book is crowded with anecdotes, adventures, and incidents—every one of which is true. The book should be read by every boy who makes the mistake of believing that success depends upon good chances. No boy who became famous had fewer chances than young Lincoln. He came into the world intellectually naked; was his own teacher; believed that all men are equal before God and before the law, and on this issue reached the Presidency of the United States; saw out the most gigantic civil war that the world has ever witnessed, and lived his life "with charity toward all and with malice toward none." A faith like Lincoln's would transform the world if our hearts could but catch its glow.

The influence of Lincoln's life will surely go on until the end of time. Think of what a simple, true-hearted, wholesome man may become to his country and its people.

The Story of Young Benjamin Franklin

The Record of Christian Work says: "Boys and girls will read and reread this book. The events of young Franklin's life from his earliest experiences, before the time he ran away from Boston, to the end of his eighty-four years, as here recited, are instructive and entertaining. Those who have not fully appreciated the life and work of 'B. Franklin, Printer,' will surely have a new view of this great man after reading this interesting book, which is heartily recommended to all young people."

"Many quotations from Franklin's 'Autobiography' show the keenness, depth and sagacity of this great philosopher, statesman and patriot. Love of truth, love of country, and love for humanity strongly predominate. As the author understandingly interprets Franklin's character, he points out, 'With him religion was tenderly interwoven with patriotism, and patriotism with him was religion of country.'

"Franklin's was truly a great life, and the honor he received while he lived was earned by hard labor and self-sacrifice. Whatever glory he had did not change his modesty and humbleness of spirit. To the end of his days, Franklin served his country with foresight, unselfishness, loyalty, and noble devotion."

Bound in Cloth, with Cover Designs in Colors, and with Decorative End Sheets. Large 12mo. Each volume containing Eight Original Full-page Colored Plates.

Young folks, who are always on the lookout for new worth-while literature, will feel that they have a real find in this collection of Negro dialect stories. The Man Without a Country

BY EDWARD EVERETT HALE

Edited with Introduction and Notes

BY NORRIS H. LAUGHTON, A.B., A.M. (Harvard)

He who has never read this masterpiece has still a valuable work before him. At this time of war, patriotism and treachery, is this work especially important. In no other work are there such exceptional accounts and descriptions of patriotic sentiment. From the first sentence to the last the author holds the reader's interest, and when we have laid the book aside our only regret is that there is no more left for us to read. No American can consider himself well versed in patriotic literature unless he is acquainted with this piece of our national literary wealth. Every home, library and school should possess this small work, and no student, business man or woman should leave this book unread.

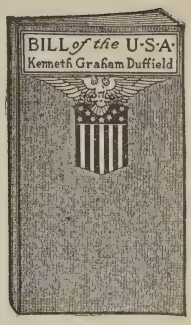
BILL of the U. S. A.

A Book of War Verses

By KENNETH GRAHAM DUFFIELD

Cloth, Ornamental, 50 cents, net.
Imitation Morocco, 75 cents, net.
Full Leather, $1.25, net.



"Somebody's boy has crossed th' sea,
T' do th' fightin' for you and me,
Let's call him 'Bill'—he's any man's son
That carries a pack an' shoulders a gun."

Claims a place of prominence among the poetic effusions of the great struggle.—Democrat and Chronicle, Rochester, N. Y.

"Bill" is the young fellow who answered the call to the colors, and this little book tells all about him in homely verse. The sadness of the old home after he had gone, along with the pride of the father and mother and all the people of the little town, are set forth in lines, that, despite the dialect in which they are written (or, perhaps, because of it) make us share in the exultation and the grief. Mr. Duffield, for the most part, woos no feminine muse, but he has found a masculine god of the rhyming, metrical line who has given him the secret of swinging, blood-stirring verse.—Evening Monitor, Concord, N. H.

Plain of name and soul, Bill, the subject of the verses in this little book, is typically American. Bill's father, Bill's mother, letters to Bill, sewing for Bill, and a prayer for Bill are each the theme of a bit of rhyme. Mr. Duffield's verse is full of patriotism and heart-interest.—The Leader, Pittsburgh, Pa.

War verse in high and fine spirit, with the touch of homeliness which will recommend "Bill" to all Americans.—Christian Advocate, New York, N. Y.

There is a vigorous martial spirit in the dialect poems entitled "Bill of the U. S. A." Mr. Duffield understands American manhood which in a war like this will never sheathe the sword until the Hun is conquered.—Post Express, Rochester, N. Y.

The verses appeal to the great body of Americans who have a service flag in their windows.—St. Louis Republic.

Every parent who has a boy "over there" will read it with pleasure, and, in more than one part, with moistened eyes.—Presbyterian Standard.

A little work which cannot but appeal to everybody whose "boy has crossed th' sea." In it the poet of the soldier speaks; an artist who understands the American soldier—his heart and his soul.—Evening Express, Portland, Me.

All the fathers and mothers, sisters and brothers of soldiers will enjoy reading these verses about Bill, for he is their boy, wherever they may live.—Daily Press, Utica, N. Y.

Every line tingles with patriotic fervor.—Milwaukee Journal.

A little volume of poems that give cheer and tell the story of the soldier in his own words. It breathes the fighting spirit.—Commercial Tribune, Cincinnati, O.

There is plenty of human emotion in the little book, emotion which springs from experiences which are often both heart-rending and ennobling.—Evening Gazette, Worcester, Mass.

Two Years Before the Mast

By RICHARD HENRY DANA

Richard Henry Dana, the author of Two Years Before the Mast, while at Harvard University, which he entered in 1831, became troubled with an affection of the eyes that prevented him from continuing his studies. He therefore determined to see what an entire change of life would do towards curing his malady, and with this end in view he shipped as an ordinary seaman on board a trading vessel bound for California. He was away just over two years, returning in September, 1836, being then in his twenty-first year. His book, which was published in 1840, is a faithful and detailed account of the voyage.

Two Years Before the Mast has probably been as widely read as any work from the pen of any American author. It is distinguished alike by its vivid descriptive power and its humor, while the fidelity with which it depicts the hardships of a sailor's life has helped greatly to bring about a better state of things in the mercantile marine of both America and England.

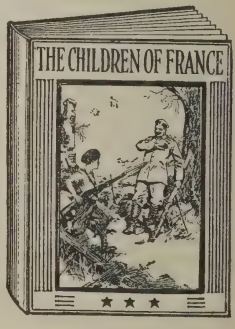
The Children of France



In this volume are set down the stories of many devoted little French boys and girls who passed through perils that would try the strongest and bravest of men. How Remi, the Brave, won the Cross of War; the story of Little Mathilde, who saved the French garrison; Marie the Courageous, who remained at home when the Germans captured the town, and kept the French informed, knowing that if caught she would surely be shot as a spy; how the Hero of the Guns saved the day by working the machine guns; the story of the Little Soldier of Mercy who, though a timid lad, forgot his fears, and working under fire saved the life of many a wounded man; how little Gene locked the Bavarian Dragoons in the cellar of her home and captured the lot of them. These thrilling tales of the heroism of the Children of France will make the heart of every boy and girl beat faster; they will grip the heartstrings of all who read and bring them to a better realization of their duty to their Flag and to their Country.

THE MERRIAM SCHOOL SERIES

Webster's Secondary-School Dictionary

70,000 words and phrases. 1,000 illustrations. 864 pages, $6\frac{1}{4} \times 8\frac{5}{8}$ inches. Plain, $1.80. Indexed, $2.00.

Presents the largest number of words and phrases ever included in a school dictionary. The wide scope of its vocabulary, the clearness of its etymologies, the simplicity and accuracy of its definitions, the nicety of its synonyms and illustrative examples, and the helpfulness of its supplemental tables, have given this volume a great vogue in schools of all grades.

Webster's Elementary-School Dictionary

45,000 words and phrases. 900 illustrations. 720 pages, $5\frac{3}{8} \times 7\frac{3}{4}$ inches. $1.00.

Carefully planned to meet the needs of all the elementary grades and other schools in which etymologies are not taught. It contains all words found in the school texts generally used, and includes the technical expressions of ordinary business and words used in elementary sciences. Unusual attention is devoted to making a word's meaning clear to immature minds, especially by the use of illustrative sentences or phrases and by discriminating synonyms. Inflected forms are given when irregular.

Webster's Shorter School Dictionary

35,000 words and phrases. Fully illustrated. 544 pages, $5\frac{1}{8} \times 7$ inches. 72 cents.

Though small, this book is remarkably complete, presenting not only common words but technical and scientific terminology and up-to-date words needed by elementary pupils. It is unique among smaller dictionaries in making clear grammatical difficulties. Within its scope it is authoritative.

CLASSIFICATION BY SUBJECT

BOOKS AND PAMPHLETS

No attempt has been made to place each book under all its possible classifications, or to subdivide the various groups exhaustively; but the effort has been made to form lists which will facilitate the search for material to fill specific needs.

In many cases equally helpful books may be found under several groupings. For that reason a careful scanning of the Titles under the various Headings and Divisions is advised.

Descriptive text, prices, etc., of these Publications may be found in the alphabetical arrangement by Titles

ANSWERS EVERY QUESTION

Where to go-How to get there
What to see-Where to stop

America's Standard Automobile Road Guide

Published Annually since 1901

Gives detailed running directions for every mile to any place that can be reached by automobile—tells how far any place is and whether the roads are good or bad—where to stop, where to eat, where to get gasoline or repairs and where the service stations are—what the speed laws and traffic regulations are en route—ferry and steamship schedules—points out the historic and scenic places along the way—warns of curves, grades and dangerous crossings ahead—helps to plan tours—will tell any motorist exactly where he is at any minute of his trip.

Weeks before the start, with the help of the Blue Book, motorists can plan their trips in every detail, from start to finish. The Blue Book will suggest new places to see, with new ways to go and return. Then, on the road, it will give them detailed directions for every mile of the way.

The Automobile Blue Book will save its cost often on the first day's run by keeping motorists off the wrong, rough roads that waste gasoline, wear out tires, rack the car and waste time. It's annoying to ask questions, get wrong answers and have to turn back.

Roads change constantly, and for that reason the Blue Books are published new every year, to give motorists the latest and most reliable information. Ten Blue Book Scout Cars are constantly on the road, charting new roads as well as checking old ones for corrections and changes. The only dependable motorists' road guides for 1920 are the 1920 Automobile Blue Books.

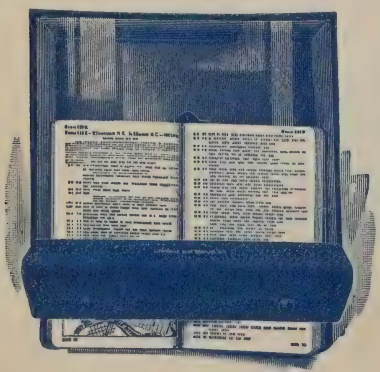
The New York Metropolitan Blue Book

This is a brand new member of the Blue Book family, somewhat different from the regular Automobile Blue Book volumes. It not only contains running directions, with maps and complete descriptions, of hundreds of short tours in and around New York City, but also interesting, intimate information on everything the visitor, and the New Yorker as well, wants to know or should know about the city and surrounding territory.

An intimate guide to New York City and environs that should prove almost indispensable not only to motorists coming to or living in New York but also to everyone who contemplates a visit to the greatest city of the United States. Out of the ordinary, intimate, interesting descriptions of points of historical and scenic interest, hotels, theatres, restaurants, clubs, public buildings, parks, road houses, etc., etc. Contains graphic maps of the city which show everything worth seeing, with simple information how to reach every place and a description for each one.

A veritable tourists' and visitors' encyclopedia—interesting and not technical—of everything that pertains to New York City.

Profusely illustrated with maps and photographs, bound in "Royal Blue" limp binding, stamped in gold. $3.00 net or $3.15 postpaid.



This Blue Book Holder

will double the usefulness of a Blue Book

Built with a transparent face of celluloid—it enables the motorist to keep an open book before him in any wind or any weather. Two pages are constantly before him and pages may be turned without removing the book from the holder.

In genuine leather, "Royal Blue" finish.....$3.00 each
In imitation leather, "Royal Blue" finish.....$2.00 each

POINTS OF INTEREST, OTTAWA, ONT

Ottawa (pop 87,075) was selected by the late Queen Victoria as the capital of the Dominion of Canada in 1857, and in 1859 Parliament ratified the queen's choice. In 1860 the late King Edward, then Prince of Wales, laid the cornerstone of the Parliament buildings and on July 1, 1867, the flag of the Dominion floated from the central tower. These Parliament buildings and departmental blocks, which crown the highest part of the city, are the wonder and admiration of all. The town is beautifully situated on the Ottawa river at its confluence with the Rideau. The Rideau canal passes thru the city. The Ottawa river here forms the wonderful Chaudiere falls, which are 100 ft. wide and 50 ft. high, and with its tributary, the Gatineau, supplies motive power for the great lumber and flour mills of Ottawa and its other manufactories. Lumbering is its greatest industry.

More than 300 years ago Champlain made his first voyage up the Ottawa river with a party of Indians, hoping to discover the western sea—the way to China, but it was not until 1826 that the city had its beginning. As an interior line of communication the Imperial government decided to build a canal here for military purposes, connecting Ottawa with Kingston. This work was in charge of Colonel By, who built rude frame barracks for his men where the Parliament buildings now stand and a residence for himself in what is now Major Hill park. This was the nucleus of the present city in those days known as the village of Bytown.

Ottawa is not only the political, but in many respects is also the intellectual center of the Dominion. It has splendid educational facilities, including the Ottawa university, Collegiate institute and various other colleges, convents and private and public schools. Its libraries, including the Library of Parliament, take first rank.

In the way of monuments, perhaps the most notable in Ottawa is that of Queen Victoria in the center of the Parliamentary library. This is life-sized and was executed by the late Marshall Wood, an English sculptor. On Parliament Hill is another statue of the queen in heroic size supported by an emblematic group. This has been placed since the death of Victoria and is the work of a young French-Canadian sculptor. On the same side of the terrace, overlooking the river and the Chaudiere, is a statue of Alexander Mackenzie, the first Liberal Premier of the Dominion, and another of Cartier,

When motorists think of touring they instinctively think of the AUTOMOBILE BLUE BOOK

Glance at the open book at the top and see how complete each detail is and how thoroughly the information will serve motorists not only before they start, when they are planning their tours, but also on the road, with a Blue Book in their lap.

The distance—brief description of the route and of the roads—running directions for every mile—mileages between every fork and turn—railroad crossings, curves and grades—hotels and garages—detail maps of towns and cities—interesting descriptions of historic and scenic points en route—it is all so simple that one merely reads his or her way. The odometer is a constant check.

Motorists never guess with a Blue Book. They know every minute where they are. They know exactly how to reach their destination, where to eat or stop en route, what to see and where to put up their cars.

Every bit of information that they want, to make their trips successful and free from worry, is anticipated for them in the Blue Book.

There is a Blue Book for every section of the country. All volumes are uniform in style, size and binding, average 1000 pages, printed on special thin paper, with hundreds of maps and illustrations, in limp "Royal Blue" binding, stamped in gold. Price per volume $3.00 net or $3.15 postpaid.

THE AMERICAN DICTIONARY OF DATES 1620-1920

CHARLES RIPLEY DAMON, Editor and Compiler

A DAY BY DAY HISTORY OF THREE HUNDRED YEARS

INCLUDING ALSO

The Period of Discovery from the Norsemen to Columbus, 458 to 1492
The Period of Colonization, 1492 to 1607
The Period of English Settlement, 1607 to 1620

The Declaration of Independence, with a Complete Sketch of the Life of Each of the Fifty-Six Signers

Comprehensive 100-word Biographical Sketches of all the Presidents

The Ratification of the Constitution by the Thirteen Original States and the Origin and Statehood of all of the States of our Present Union; including the Development of the Territories

This work stands alone as the most comprehensive and valuable reference work on American History. It contains all the events bearing in any way on the development of our nation from the year 458 to 1920, arranged in chronological order.

The advantage of such an arrangement can be seen readily, for it is constantly desirable to know not only the date of any one specific incident, but also to know those events immediately preceding and following it.

By reference to any year, one may see all the facts of a certain period which have affected the destiny of the nation. Again, by reference to the index, one has before him all the history of a given event or movement. For, in order that the reader may determine quickly the date of any of the facts listed, a complete subject index is included.

For further reference, the work contains the complete text of the Declaration of Independence, with complete sketches of the lives of all the fifty-six signers; comprehensive biographical sketches of all our presidents; as well as the ratifications of the constitution by the thirteen original states and the origin and statehood of all the states of our present union, including the development of the territories.

Besides the supplementary periods from 458 to 1620, the work is a day by day history of three hundred years, from colonial dependence to independent government, and of the United States of America from the signing of the constitution to the ratification of the allied peace treaty.

POET LORE

POET LORE is the oldest and largest review in the English language devoted to poetry and drama. In its pages appears the best work of the world's greatest writers, and for thirty years it has been an active pioneer in promoting an interest in international letters. Maeterlinck, Hauptmann, Sudermann, Schnitzler, D'Annunzio, Gorki, Andreyev, Bjornson and Synge are among those POET LORE has introduced to the American public.

"Those who love the best in poetry and drama will find in POET LORE a literary feast." — The Pittsburg Post

"It is a most excellent indication of the genuine love of high literature that the editors have been able to bring together so many distinct contributions of a suggestive and critical character. There is a freshness about the work which is inspiriting, and the study is of that which is worth while, not the tiresome praise of the second rate."— Atlantic Monthly

"A periodical that stands steadfastly for good literature and for the value of poetry in all walks of life." — The Dial

Books on Education and Teaching

Besides his own publications Mr. Bardeen has for forty years dealt extensively in books on education and teaching, and has now in stock the largest collection on sale of such books and pamphlets, particularly sets of Educational Journals, Official Reports of all Countries, and of States and Cities, etc.

—THE SCHOOL BULLETIN PUBLICATIONS—

The School Bulletin

And New York State Educational Journal

Established 1874. 24 pages, 9x14. $1.00 a year

The School Bulletin is one of the three oldest educational journals in America, and the only one of them that has been under the same ownership and management from the beginning. It was the only American school journal which received the gold medal at the Paris Exposition of 1889; it received the highest award offered at the Chicago Exposition of 1893, the diploma pronouncing it "of the greatest interest and historical value to educators of all grades"; and it received two gold medals at the Paris Exposition of 1900. Its editor had charge of the department of Educational Publications at the World's Fair Congress of 1893, and prepared the article on Educational Journalism printed in the 50th anniversary volume of the National Educational association for 1906.

In the feature of educational news it has never had a rival. Its chronicles of what has happened in New York schools since its establishment are unmatched in educational literature, and it has taken note of whatever has happened in other states that involved general principles. It is abundantly illustrated, especially in portraits, of which more than 300 have appeared in a single volume.

It also publishes the most important circulars and decisions of the Education Department, and records of the meetings held and circulars issued by the District Superintendents; in short it is indispensable to the New York teacher who would be well-informed.

Dr. Sherman Williams, Chief of School Libraries, wrote us May 25, 1913: "I have read the School Bulletin from the first number, I think. I read no other periodical with so much satisfaction. Your reports of educational meetings are not equalled by any other writer. Your general surveys of the educational field are very remarkable. Your knowledge of human nature is unusual. Your wealth of information is marvellous. All these qualities enable you to make the School Bulletin the remarkable paper that it is."

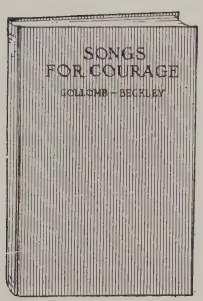
SONGS FOR COURAGE

BY ZOË BECKLEY AND JOSEPH GOLLOMB.



For those to whom life has dealt heavy blows there could be no better tonic than "Songs for Courage." It is just the sort of message for one's own heart, or to pass along to a friend. Nothing is so contagious as courage; and here two of the bravest spirits, of the brightest intellects, unite in this one great adjuration: Take hope!

In verse and in prose; gay, grave, majestic, but always heart-stirring because culled from living truth—resolute songs of souls who will not accept defeat—they bid us be of good cheer. "Songs for Courage" is a trumpet-call for the quickening of every soul to gather hope and strength from the experience of others.

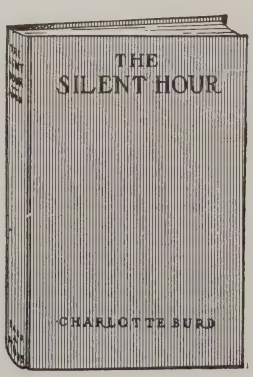
THE SILENT HOUR

BY CHARLOTTE BURD.



That the power of man is limitless, reaching up to the throne of God himself through the spiritual communings of the Silent Hour—such is the timely message of this thoughtful book. We are on the threshold of a marvelous era, and "in the new age each human being will be taught how to use his still half secret vital principles of physical, mental, moral, and spiritual development."

"To gain a steady spiritual growth, to attain any great desire to readjust one's confused spiritual focus, one must spend much time in the Silent Hour."

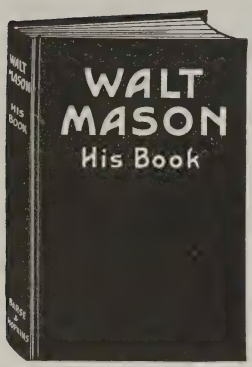
WALT MASON

HIS BOOK

With an introduction by Irvin S. Cobb



Arthur Conan Doyle:
"It is a work of high individuality, full of raciness, wit and sense."

Geo. Ade:
"Walt Mason is the High Priest of Horse Sense."

Hon. Champ Clark:
"We need more of this kind of philosophy. Better to sing a jubilante than a miserere."

Elbert Hubbard:
"His prose poems exercise your liver by making you laugh. His wit bubbles and gurgles like a Kansas creek where the bullfrogs gambol."

Walt Mason's prose poetry is perhaps the most widely read of contemporary writers. It has appeared in the leading magazines and newspapers throughout the country. William Allen White summarizes his work aptly in saying:

"How many millions of people are cheered year by year as they turn every day to those quaint verses! Here is a man doing a man's work in the world, making life brighter and more cheerful and more sensible in this vale of tears. Millions in money could do no more—if as much—as this man does at his day's work."

The book is substantially bound and the text is printed in clear, readable type on paper of first quality. Each book is wrapped in attractive wrapper, printed in colors.

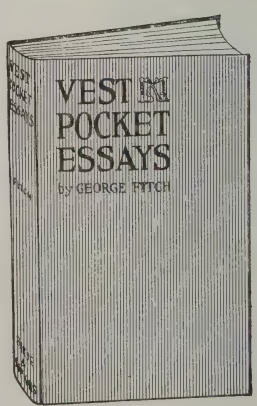
VEST POCKET ESSAYS

BY GEORGE FITCH,

Author of "At Good Old Siwash," etc.



"Vest pocket Essays" are short talks—about four hundred words each—on miscellaneous subjects. "From Hope to Hash," "From Cabbages to Kings." Fitch's humor is good-natured, yet there is a wealth of meaning behind his fun. It is above all things a philosophic humor, though he is never cynically smart, and when he takes certain institutions to task he does it in a kindly manner. His is a quiet, dry, droll humor—to be consumed in leisurely fashion, rolled under the tongue and chuckled over.

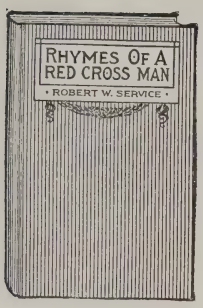
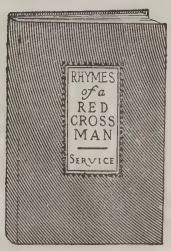
RHYMES OF A RED CROSS MAN



Cloth

BY ROBERT W. SERVICE.

Humor and Pathos of the Great War told in verses which will live after the story of the conflict is but a legend. Verses which wedge the human side of the war into the hearts of people.



Flexible

These vivid pen pictures of the titanic struggle in Europe, written amid the din and roar of the cannon, tell the story of the human side of this great war in the most inspired, straightforward, and powerful verses that have yet been contributed. Mr. Witter Bynner, literary critic of "The Dial," aptly concludes:

> "Detail after detail of life at the front takes its place in the various narratives, adding touches of excitement, pathos, terror, tenderness, or humor, and in the end imbuing this particular reader with a closer sense of life in the Great War than any correspondent, novelist, or poet has yet given him—making it so natural, straightforward, first-hand, vibrant, that if you are like me you will close the book with the painful silence in the ears that follows great sound and the flush in the head that comes from the sight of broken bodies and the squeeze in the throat that comes in the presence of honest human emotion. It is not a criticism from without, but a cry from within—dignifying even 'Tipperary.' We have been inquiring for the poetry of the War. In my judgment, here it is."

BIRTHDAY HOROSCOPES

BY DR. J. F. PHELPS.

Amusing, entertaining, instructive, because it tells frankly what you are—your character, temperament and latent possibilities for good or evil, as disclosed through the science of Astrology, by the planetary influences on everybody's birthday.

Startlingly accurate! You read it for your own birthday and are astonished! You read it for your family or friends, and you wonder what there is in Astrology that gets so close to the truth. For an evening's entertainment it is a novelty that you will be quick to appreciate. If conversation lags, read aloud one or two of the horoscopes, and you'll be busy the rest of the evening.

THE MEN WHO BLAZE THE TRAIL

AND OTHER POEMS, By S. C. Dunham.

Come, take a trip into the wild, free Northland of Alaska. Breathe the cold, crisp air, laden with the pine odors of the forests. Sling your pack upon your back, and with pick and shovel journey into the gold camps of Nome. Be a miner yourself for once and light your pipe in the circle of good fellowship about the camp fire.

This you will do as you read "The Men Who Blaze the Trail."

Cloth. Size 5 x 7½ inches. Title gold stamped from intaglio plates. Net, $1.00.

THE POEMS of OSCAR WILDE

Few authors attained wider fame in their own day, or were more quoted and misunderstood, than Oscar Wilde. The bulk, however, of Mr. Wilde's writings, and especially his poetry, is unknown to many readers, though in this field he is entitled to a place among the greatest writers of his time. This edition contains his collected verse, including the immortal "Ballad of Reading Gaol" and the fantastic "Flowers of Gold."

BIRTHDAY HOROSCOPES

BY DR. J. F. PHELPS.

Amusing, entertaining, instructive, because it tells frankly what you are—your character, temperament and latent possibilities for good or evil, as disclosed through the science of Astrology, by the planetary influences on everybody's birthday.

Startlingly accurate! You read it for your own birthday and are astonished! You read it for your family or friends, and you wonder what there is in Astrology that gets so close to the truth. For an evening's entertainment it is a novelty that you will be quick to appreciate. If conversation lags, read aloud one or two of the horoscopes, and you'll be busy the rest of the evening.

IN GOD'S GOOD TIME. By H. M. Ross. A strong narrative, depicting the intrigues of an unscrupulous rogue.
LIGHT OF HIS COUNTENANCE, THE. By Jerome Harte. A fine tale of early Christian times.

CIRCUS-RIDER'S DAUGHTER, THE. By F. V. Brackel. This charming novel has been regarded as a model love story.

CONNOR D'ARCY'S STRUGGLES. By W. M. Bertholds. A charming tale beginning in London and ending in the boundless West.

DION AND THE SIBYLS. By Miles Keon. This famous novel of the time of Christ is in the front rank of the Messianic stories; and while all thoughtful persons will admit its equality with Ben Hur, a few will claim for it superiority. Besides the young Greek hero, Paulus, and his sister, Agatha, the romances of whose lives run like thin, golden threads through the darker strands of earthly wars and court intrigues in the Roman Empire, and converge to a chastened happiness under the divine light of the world's Redeemer, we meet the great Emperor Augustus in his old age, and many of the scholars and philosophers to whom he delighted to listen.

FABIOLA'S SISTERS. Adapted by A. C. Clarke. A story of Carthage in the third century.

FORGIVE AND FORGET. By Ernest Lingen. A wholesome, engrossing love story. Three men love the same girl, and the resultant tangles and heartburnings may readily be fancied. It is a graphic description of what nobility of soul and unfaltering devotion can endure. The author portrays human nature to perfection and knows the impulses of the human heart.

HER JOURNEY'S END. By Frances Cooke. A very cleverly devised story of life in a mill town, with labor troubles and plenty of love and villainy.

IDOLS; or THE SECRET OF THE RUE CHAUSSEE D'ANTIN. By Raoul de Navery. A thrilling story, exciting enough to please the most insatiate.

MARCELLA GRACE. By Rosa Mulholland. One of the very finest of Irish novels.

MISS ERIN. By M. E. Francis. An Irish love story that brings in high life and low, piety and politics.

MONK'S PARDON, THE. By Raoul de Navery. An extremely interesting novel, bringing vividly to view the Spain of King Philip IV.

OUTLAW OF CAMARGUE, THE. By A. de Lamothe. A capital novel of adventure, with plenty of "go" in it.

ROSE OF THE WORLD. By M. C. Martin. A story of life in South Africa, with strong romantic interest.

ROUND TABLE OF AMERICAN CATHOLIC NOVELISTS. A delightful symposium of short stories by representative American Catholic novelists.

ROUND TABLE OF IRISH AND ENGLISH CATHOLIC NOVELISTS. A pleasing collection of novelettes by eminent Catholic authors of England and Ireland.

ROUND TABLE OF GERMAN CATHOLIC NOVELISTS. Well selected translations of short stories by the best-known Catholic writers of Germany.

SO AS BY FIRE. By Jean Connor. The love story of a young, wayward, and desperate girl, who wrongfully assumes the place and fortune of a dead heiress.

TEMPEST OF THE HEART, THE. By Mary Agatha Gray. A tale of a monk who leaves his monastery and afterwards returns. The author handles the subject with knowledge and reverence.

TURN OF THE TIDE, THE. By Mary Agatha Gray. A powerful and pathetic love story of an English fishing-village, with just enough smuggling to give it tang.

I. C. CLARKE'S GREAT NOVELS

Each Volume Contains from 400-500 Pages. Handsomely Bound in Silk Cloth. Size, 5⅛ x 8⅛ inches.

Price, each, $1.50 net; postage, 15 cents extra.

THE ELSTONES. This novel is remarkable for the characteristic and distinctive quality of stalwart Catholicity which it possesses. There is woven into it a love story, charming and winsome, very human and appealing.

CHILDREN OF EVE. With palpitating heart the reader follows this trusting and delicate heroine through her trials and agonies, and rejoices when she emerges again into the brightness of happiness, which is the reward of her patience and fortitude.

WHOSE NAME IS LEGION. The scenes of this story are laid in rural England and in Algiers, Africa. We see Miss Clarke in a new light—as a student of occult things, with an intimate knowledge of spiritualistic phenomena, both genuine and imitation.

THE REST HOUSE. It is always a pleasure to welcome a novel by Isabel C. Clarke. "The Rest House" fully realizes one's expectation. It is a narrative interesting enough to cheer the most blase novel reader."—Ave Maria.

BY THE BLUE RIVER. The book is a very enthralling one, full of charm and interest, deeply religious in tone, full also of pathos, but with no trace of morbidity of sentiment, and the story holds the reader's interest from cover to cover. It is told with much dramatic effect and beauty of expression.

ONLY ANNE. In writing this novel, the author has arranged a singularly fascinating plot and again demonstrated the beauty of her clear style, the attraction of her other books.

PRISONERS' YEARS. "Prisoners' Years" is a novel, strong yet tender—a story of love, of human nature, but a human nature uplifted and glorified by the spirit.

THE SECRET CITADEL. In "The Secret Citadel" Miss Clarke has taken for her theme the question of the bitter fruit of a mixed marriage, with its broken promises and consequent suffering. The loving and gentle wife is harried to her death-bed, and here it is that the vanity and folly of the husband are ground to dust.

FINE CLAY. The tale holds the ardor of perfect love, unrestrained, complete and strong; it reveals the treachery of passion and falsehood. "Fine Clay" may justly be recommended to every lover of fiction.

NO CATHOLIC HOME SHOULD BE WITHOUT FATHER GARESCHÉ'S CHEERFUL, HELPFUL BOOKS

FATHER GARESCHÉ

For Religious there are many manuals of holy living; for the layman there are comparatively few; fewer still that deal with life as it is lived at the present time. Father Garesché's books supply this need.

They are full of practical suggestions for laymen, showing them how, without seeking any new or extraordinary fields of labor, they may become apostles. They are interesting, cheery, practical, full of edification and inspiration.

"The two books, 'Your Interests Eternal' and 'Your Soul's Salvation,' make very fine reading, and I hasten to congratulate you on your contribution to devotional literature. They will go far towards increasing piety among our people."

—J. CARD. GIBBONS.

ABBOTT, SAMUEL

The Dramatic Story Of Old Glory ..... (8 illustrations) $1.60

Introduction by JAMES M. BECK

Mr. Abbott, Chief of Flag Bureau for the Roosevelt Memorial Association has given us a dramatic word painting of incidents in which Old Glory figures; incidents that have not been recounted in any other book on the subject. A fascinating story of the American flag for the youth of America, suggested for use in the schoolroom and by all Americanization organizations.

"Stirs to a higher patriotism, a true realization of the heroism and self-sacrifice which created and preserved our flag, a deeper determination to do all in one's power to uphold its significance. The book should be in every home in the land, every library, public, private and school."—The Boston Transcript.

AIKMAN, HENRY G.

*The Groper $1.60

The Groper is the story of a youth who comes to the city—Detroit—to find his fortune and himself. It is a fascinating story that never grows old. The book is an extraordinarily frank and sympathetic account of a boy's temptations and experiences, coupled with many interesting facts about the inside of a big department store, and the amazing romance of the automobile industry. It is a first novel and a strong one.

ANONYMOUS

The Story of a Lover $1.50

One of the few truthful autobiographies in the English language. An intense selection, from the flow of human life, of the important love episodes and relations, typical of the career of all lovers who go far along that wonderful and tormenting path, encountering strange delights and bitter pain. . . . The publishers believe that the Story of a Lover is one of the finest, if not the finest book that has been published with their imprint, one of the most exquisite prose poems that has ever been written. This book will undoubtedly arouse more widespread comment than almost any other book that has been issued in America in the past few years and the superlative indorsement of its publishers is printed only after the most careful and judicious consideration.

AUSTIN, MARY

Outland $1.60

The only piece of modern writing to which one can compare Outland, for beauty of description, is W. H. Hudson's "Green Mansions". In Outland is all the mystery and beauty of the woods—the strange redwood forest of the west. The race with which Mary Austin peoples these woods—the "Outland"—is as much a part of the forest as the trees themselves. Skillfully woven through the marvelously imaginative tale of their adventures and their treasure is the human story of the wanderers themselves, Hermann and Mona.

BARBUSSE, HENRI

The Inferno $1.50

Translated by Edward J. O'Brien from the 100th French edition.

Barbusse, who in "Under Fire" has given us one of the best books inspired by the World War, has in this novel depicted that other great human struggle—the never ceasing war waged between the sexes . . . The Inferno is one of James G. Huneker's three favorite books of the last year.

"It is truly a great book, an honest book, a book of love and pity and deep, sympathetic understanding. It is a book to be read by all who question."—Chicago Daily News.

BARNHART, HARRY

*The Will of Song ..... (Boards) 70c.

See MACKAYE, PERCY

BEBEL, AUGUST

Woman: Past, Present and Future $1.60

Bebel's book, written a number of years ago, was the first thorough scientific treatment of a subject that since then has agitated the political and social world in nearly every civilized country. It is of authoritative character, and is written in such a charming flowing style that it created an immediate sensation and soon acquired the popularity of an international classic.

"It is one of the few books that can be fairly called epoch making in its consequences."—New York Evening Sun.

BERCOVICI, KONRAD

Dust of New York ..... (4 Illustrations) $1.60

Konrad Bercovici affords us in the powerful little stories of this volume, vivid unforgettable glimpses of New Yorkers. Bercovici, writer, musician, is never a reporter of events or mannerisms, he is an interpreter, for he is one with the people. He knows the homely beauty of impoverished lives and finds the drama and romance concealed by drab exteriors. People are not all alike to him. He pierces the outer coat of their mannerisms,—Jews, Irish, Turks, Italians, Greeks, French, all before they have melted into the one great unit. From the depths of their varied souls he points out the new American of a dozen or a hundred years hence, and the real metropolis of today.

BIERCE, AMBROSE

In the Midst of Life: Tales of Soldiers and Civilians $1.75

Can Such Things Be? $1.75

Two collections of stories of the supernatural, the ghostly, the inexplicably mysterious, by one of America's greatest writers who was strangely neglected and who probably was already half-forgotten before the republication, in their present form, of the best of his large contribution to American literature. The impressiveness of Ambrose Bierce's stories is largely the result of their tense atmosphere, their close-knit structure, their nervous and compact dignity of style. The Bierce "revival" is now in full swing. He is slowly but surely receiving his recognition as a master, to be considered on the same plane as Poe, Hawthorne, De Maupassant and the other giants of the short story. Bierce is one of the few Americans to have achieved international fame. Bierce's genius is acclaimed by such leading American critics as Wilson Follett, H. W. Boynton, William Marion Reedy, Brander Matthews, Owen Wister, and such English critics as Arthur Machen and Conan Doyle.

BLATCHFORD, ROBERT

Not Guilty 75c

(Also in Paper Bound Edition) 25c

A treatment of the individual's blame or blamelessness for crime that makes the book as delightful as a novel. An international classic by the author of that other classic "Merrie England".

"The book was originally issued in England where it has had an immense vogue. The honesty of the work is unquestionable, it speaks of a man of large heart and clear vision, with a militant soul."—Chicago Post.

BONI, ALBERT (Editor)

The Modern Book of French Verse $2.50

Introduction by (to be announced)

See MODERN BOOKS OF VERSE, THE

CHESTERTON, GILBERT KEITH

Utopia of Usurers $1.25

In this book Chesterton shows familiar things in an unfamiliar light. Old wrongs and abuses are given a new Chestertonian sting. Others write of the utopias of the idealists; Chesterton writes of the utopia of hard-headed business men, of capitalists.

CLEMENS, SAMUEL L.

The Curious Republic of Gondour and Other Whimsical Sketches ..... (Boards) $1.25

These sketches by the author of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn have never before appeared in book form. No collection of America's greatest humorist and philosopher can be complete without this volume.

"It will probably appeal strongly to the many devotees of Samuel L. Clemens, all of whom will be duly grateful to the publishers for discovering these little sketches and re-printing them in their attractive Penguin Series."—New York Times.

CONNOLLY, NORA

The Irish Rebellion of 1916, or The Unbroken Tradition

(With Maps and Illustrations) $1.50

A personal narrative of her experiences in the Irish Rebellion of 1916, by the daughter of James Connolly, the leader of the Rebellion, who was executed for his part in it. A new edition with the title originally chosen by the author, but which could not be used during the World War.

"Miss Connolly has inherited her father's genius for arming facts with underemphasis and marshalling them in effective formation. The interest of her narrative progressively increases until it reaches a climax in the passage which tells of her father's death. She has written one of the greatest tragedies of English history".—The Survey.

CRONYN, GEORGE (Editor)

The Path on the Rainbow $1.75

Illustrated and decorated by J. B. PLATT

Introduction by MARY AUSTIN

Appreciation by CONSTANCE LINDSAY SKINNER.

The first inclusive and authoritative collection of literal translations of the poetry of American Indians.

"This intensely interesting anthology opens a native treasure hitherto little considered from the point of view of art; it should appeal to every lover of authentic poetry, to every student of folklore and above all, to those who consider that the American nation should retain the Indian ideals of hardihood, the Indian feeling of kinship with nature, and the Indian sense of the magic and mystic in life that a too comfortable materialism might extinguish."—The Public.

DEBS, EUGENE V.

His Authorized Life and Letters From Woodstock Prison to Atlanta $1.50

See KARSNER, DAVID

DREISER, THEODORE

Sister Carrie $1.90

A full, exhaustive story of a girl, poorly equipped for life's adventures; a broad vivid picture of men and manners in middle-class New York and Chicago; a thorough and masterly study of the moral, physical and social deterioration of one Hurstwood, a lover of the heroine. Published originally in 1899, Sister Carrie is one of the few novels that has won for itself a position as an American classic.

Free and Other Stories $1.75

The first volume of short stories by the man Arnold Bennett calls America's most distinguished author. These stories depict the various phases of life which Mr. Dreiser knows so well how to handle.

"The book is one of varied, honest and sincere achievement . . . effective studies of American life as it recurs again and again in our cities . . . reveals unsuspected angles of the author's mind".—Boston Post.

Twelve Men $1.75

Not short stories nor sketches but a seething panorama of American life. Everyone will guess who these Twelve Men were and are. Mr. Dreiser, himself, moves through the pages of his book which might accurately be called "Thirteen Men". The high water-mark of Mr. Dreiser's achievement has been reached in Twelve Men which has won more wide-spread and sincere appreciation than any other of his books. Edgar Lee Masters picks it as one of his three favorite books of the last year.

"By far the most readable and interesting book of all the late spring output, and an exceptionally fine piece of work as well.—New York Tribune.

The Hand of the Potter $1.50

A powerful four act play with a Dostoyevsky theme. This is the first of Mr. Dreiser's longer plays to be presented to the American public.

Hey-Rub-A-Dub-Dub $1.75

Not only a series of brilliant and satirical philosophical essays but a permanent contribution to American letters. Mr. Dreiser expounds a philosophy of life that must take its place with the writings of the world's great philosophers.

(In preparation for 1920)

The Bulwark ..... (Probable Price) $2.00

Those who have been privileged to read the first rough draft of this novel consider that in breadth of canvas, fidelity to life, sympathy of treatment and for the sheer power of straight story-telling, The Bulwark surpasses even "Sister Carrie".

DUNBAR, RUTH

The Swallow $1.50

Though based on the actual experiences of one of the few survivors of the original Lafayette Escadrille, the real adventures in this book are those of the spirit and the heart. It tells of the bitter darkness through which every man must grope until the light finally breaks and awakens him to a realization of the true meaning of life and love.

"The Swallow stands quite alone in a certain human quality that is arresting to all, and pictures one of the most delightful heroes in war literature."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

ECHEGARAY, JOSE

Mariana ..... 75c.

The masterpiece of Spain's greatest dramatist. A romantic love tragedy in four acts.

"It rings true—the characterizations are superb. Especially note-worthy is the manner in which this daily tragedy is thrown against a screen of light-hearted comedy. The publishers are to be congratulated for adding this volume to a list of publications that already is distinguished."—New York Call.

EDIE, LIONEL D.

Current Social and Industrial Forces $2.50

Introduction by JAMES HARVEY ROBINSON

This collection of writings by such men as Herbert Croly, Norman Angell, Charles A. Beard, John Dewey, Felix Frankfurter, Harold J. Laski, Graham Wallas, Sidney Webb, Ordway Tead, Thorstein Veblen, Arthur Henderson, Bertrand Russell, Basil Manly and James MacKaye does not pretend to analyze the economic order in an exhaustive fashion. Instead, it aims to deal with the fundamental features of the social and economic order in a method which suggests the pathways of change. It is a destructive and constructive criticism of the current social and industrial issues by the most prominent liberal thinkers of the day. The writings are so arranged by Mr. Edie, who is Professor of Current Historical Forces at Colgate University, that the criticism progresses with a real sequence. The many-sidedness of the criticisms in this book make it of especial value to students of economics, sociology and kindred subjects..

EVANS, CARADOC

Capel Sion $1.50

My Own People $1.50

Two books of short stories describing with striking originality the life of the Welsh communities with which the author, himself a Welshman, is so well acquainted. Mr. Evans reproduces for us a world little known, real and vivid, by no means all virtuous, yet well worth knowing.

"It is years since we have read anything to approach in power, in stark gripping realism these collections of Welsh genre tales. 'These merciless sardonic silhouettes of Welsh peasant ways' as the Nation termed them. Remarkable as "My People" is, "Capel Sion" shows even a greater advance in artistic power. The style is more natural, the spirit even more inexorable."—San Francisco Chronicle.

FORT CHARLES

The Book of the Damned ..... (Large 12 mo) $1.90

Blood, carved stones, living animals and remains of super-mammoths and icebergs—if these things have fallen from the sky, if vast dirigible structures and hosts of interplanetary voyagers or angels or crusaders have been seen close to this earth—if all were of origin not terrestrial—what conclusions can we draw? Are other planets communicating with us, either with design or otherwise? In this era of the conquest of the air, of supposed communication with the spirit world may not Mr. Fort's indisputably proven data and his conclusions be of tremendous importance to mankind? He has set forth mysterious and amazing facts that science has not classified nor been able to put in neatly labelled pigeon-holes. These facts have been excluded: they are the Damned . . . Theodore Dreiser says of The Book of the Damned: "It is wonderful. In publishing it you are honoring yourself and all great works."

FRANK, WALDO

Our America $1.75

When the leading progressive publishing house in Paris wanted a book about America, they picked Waldo Frank to write it. This is a book of challenge and of hope. No such significant attempt to interpret the spirit of this stupendous country, in its history, its cities, its religions, its letters, its varied ideals and races, in the great figures of the past and present, has heretofore been made. In the stumbling of this giant America, Mr. Frank finds the indications of a strength and purpose that will lead it to as great a spiritual victory as the material victory it has already won.

GOODMAN, DANIEL CARSON

*The Taker $1.75

The Taker is not, on the whole, unlike Mr. Goodman's much talked of "Hagar Revelly". Here, as there, he will be said to have reproduced the very color of existence. The Taker is more essentially a study in personality than "Hagar Revelly". In Leonard Vernon Mr. Goodman has not created a type, but has given us the picture of a typical American business man who, in taking everything from life, gets little or nothing. The Taker is a serious study in selfishness.

GREAT MODERN STORIES SERIES, THE

In this series will be found collections of the great modern stories of all countries, uniform in binding and general format. Each volume includes a critical introduction and biographical and bibliographical notes. These books are intended primarily for the general reader but are also suggested for use as text books and for supplementary reading for high school and college courses in Literature and Short Story Writing.

The Great Modern American Stories.

Edited with an Introduction by WILLIAM DEAN HOWELLS

William Dean Howells, the dean of American letters, with the perspective of a long life of unparalleled familiarity with the literature of the world and especially of American literature, has here collected the short stories of America which he considers worthy of remembrance and perpetuation. Unswayed by opinions, aloof from temporary admirations, so many of which he has seen arise and fade away, Mr. Howells has chosen calmly and has here set the seal of his wide knowledge and distinguished preference. His introduction to this volume is the distilled judgment of a life of great writing and great experiences.

The Great Modern English Stories.

Edited with an Introduction by EDWARD J. O'BRIEN

The fact that the short story is not a characteristic English literary form renders all the more interesting the excellence of the stories in this volume. Most of the writers in this collection have reached international fame as novelists or playwrights and in the opinion of the Editor, these stories represent what is best in their work in the field of the short story.

"This volume gives excellent material for comparative analysis and for study of the progress of short story art."—The Review.

The Great Modern French Stories.

Edited with an introduction by WILLARD HUNTINGTON WRIGHT

The stories in this volume are selected in such a way as to give the reader a clear and comprehensive idea of the evolution of the modern short story in France.

Each author included made a definite contribution to French letters; and each story represents one of its author's best and most characteristic works.

"Mr. Wright has performed a vital service in this anthology. Unlike its ubiquitous fellows, it is not merely a collection of French short story masterpieces, it is primarily a work of permanent critical scholarship."—Los Angeles Times.

GREENBERG, DAVID S.

The Cockpit of Santiago Key ..... (with Frontispiece) $1.50

This is a story of Porto Rican life for boys and girls. This is a real "juvenile" book replete with excitement and adventure, mystery and healthy romance and it is instructive and strikes a high inspirational note without in the least being tedious or preachy. It is the first of a series of juvenile books that Mr. Greenberg, author of "A Bunch of Little Thieves," social worker and idealist, is writing. Each book will take his youthful readers to another country, and acquaint them with the manners and customs and the new and exciting adventures of their peoples . . . Briefly, The Cock-pit of Santiago Key tells the story of "easy money" made on cock-fighting, which is conducted against the ban of the United States government, and the mysterious warning Felipe, the hero of the story, receives from his aged grandfather against this alluring life of comfort. Slowly, as the cock-fights come and go, bringing intrigue, hatred, ruination and sorrow, understanding dawns upon Felipe and with the curse of the grandfather dispelled, comes a new life.

Karma ..... (Boards) $1.25

A collection of stories, sketches and essays of exceptional literary merit and timely significance. The first story is autobiographical, giving the author's account of his own love.

"This volume consists of several stories and essays, all very different but each showing Hearn as a writer of exquisite English prose. The presentation of 'Karma' is so beautiful, the interpretation of young love so moving and fine, that one welcomes both the picture of love's vision and the charming portrait of the 'heroine.'"—New York Times.

Japanese Fairy Tales ..... (Boards) $1.25

A collection of delightful children's stories that will also appeal to grown-ups. The first four stories, only, in this volume are by Lafcadio Hearn.

"The Hearn of the four little stories included in this volume is truly simple and perennial. This is a nice little collection of Japanese Fairy material and will interest your children as much as it does yourself."—Chicago Post.

HEDGES, M. F.

Iron City $1.75

Two weeks before his death, Randolph Bourne, one of the most distinguished American men of letters, brought to us the manuscript of Iron City. Mr. Bourne said that he considered it the finest first novel he had ever read and one of the few great American novels. Iron City presents the chronicle of provincial America staggering up out of a sound sleep, rubbing its eyes, awakened before a new world order. It is the story of the conflict between the quiet academic ideals of a small co-educational college and the commercial spirit of its patrons, in the middle western town in which it is located . . . The bending of the will of its faculty to the demands of those who provide funds for the college treasury is told with an intensity of interest and conviction that leave no doubt of the result. The reaction of the hero, a young instructor, to this environment and the two sides of his emotional nature, as revealed in his love for two women, one the conventional love from afar, the other the sexual fascination of a beautiful girl, gives us a picture of American problems that has not been surpassed in a decade by any American author.

The Awakening of Asia (large 12 mo) $2.00

This book by the distinguished English publicist, author of "Clemenceau: The Man and his Time" and many other notable books, is the outcome of forty-five years of study and intimate knowledge of the far East—China, Japan, India and Asiatic Russia. This is a permanent book but it is also an extremely timely one. It will especially interest the American reader for it shows that before the war we were the one Western nation trusted by the Chinese. Mr. Hyndman condemns the white man's influence on the far East and the program he outlines is one of noble aspiration.

Face to Face with Great Musicians (Profusely Illustrated) $1.50

Introduction by LEOPOLD GODOWSKY

Written in a flowing easy style, the purpose of this book is to familiarize the works of the great masters and to bring a wider public to an appreciation of music. The author feels that familiarity with the personality of the men will awaken the desire to know more of their work.

"The unconventional arrangements of the 'interviews', strengthens the appeal of a study which presents an unusually comprehensive account of musical facts and history."
Boston Transcript.

JACOBSEN, JENS PETER

Marie Grubbe $1.50

Translated by HANNA ASTRUP LARSEN

Georg Brandes calls this book the greatest tour de force in Danish literature. It is an historical romance of the 17th century. The story of the wife of the son of King Frederick of Denmark during the siege of Copenhagen.

"I know few novels of any civilization, Danish or otherwise, which select so perfectly the episodes that confirm an epoch. The epoch was fascinating to Jacobsen for many reasons.....but better than the epoch was Marie Grubbe.....There is in this tale a very haunting beauty and a personality that can scarcely be forgotten."—The New Republic.

JAMES, HENRY

Travelling Companions $1.75

Seven stories, none of which has hitherto appeared in book form. It is the early Henry James that is illustrated in this collection.

"We have before us another genuine first edition of one of America's foremost literary artists, and I counsel all who love books to buy this before the edition is exhausted."

The New York Times.

Gabrielle de Bergerac ..... (Boards) $1.25

The first issue in book form of what is undoubtedly the finest novel of Henry James' early period, written in simple, lucid style.

"To open the pages of "Gabrielle De Bergerac" after dabbling in the muddy stream of poor modern fiction, is like touching the lips to a draught of cool, fresh spring water. It is all beautifully written in the style that marks Mr. James' earlier work. A charming Christmas gift."—New York Herald.

KARSNER, DAVID

Debs: His Authorized Life and Letters From Woodstock Prison to Atlanta $1.50

For more than twenty years an outstanding figure in American life and in international circles, respected and sometimes loved even by his opponents, the authorized life and letters of Eugene Debs must be considered by everyone, Socialist and non-Socialist alike, a book of significant importance. It is written by the man whom Debs declares to be the most qualified in America to undertake the task. Here are Debs' own words spoken to Karsner in Atlanta Prison: "You will write just the kind of book that time and history will require and in every line, in every page, you will be speaking for me with my authority given to you without reservations or qualifications." The book is replete with incident and anecdote, humor and humanity. It can hardly fail to take its place with the great biographies and memoirs of the last few generations.

KELLOGG, PAUL U. (In collaboration with ARTHUR GLEASON)

British Labor and the War: Reconstructors for a New World ..... (large 12 mo) $2.50

This book by Mr. Kellogg, Editor of the Survey, and by Mr. Gleason, author of "Within the British Isles," gives the fullest account that has yet appeared of the war and the after the war aims of British labor. With its valuable appendixes and comprehensive index, it is undoubtedly the authoritative book on the British Labor situation. Every employer of labor, every social worker, every Labor Union official, everyone interested—and who is not—in the gigantic labor problems which the whole world is endeavoring to solve should own a copy of British Labor and the War.

"This book has been long expected: and it certainly forms the best discussion of its subject for the American reader. It is refreshingly vigorous, full of those touches of personality which make the narrative of events quick and living for the reader who wants more than the bare anatomy of the record, and it contains a valuable appendix of the fundamental documents. The authors write from the standpoint of Mr. Henderson and his followers, which is to say that they are keenly critical of Mr. Gompers and the official attitude of the American Federation. It is, naturally, a fascinating story they have to tell. Without pretensions to philosophic interpretation, they have produced a volume without which no American student of English conditions can pretend to be acquainted with the facts."

The Conscientious Objector ..... (Boards) $1.00

Foreword by Secretary of War, NEWTON D. BAKER

Major Kellogg, who was Chairman of the Board of Inquiry for conscientious objectors, presents his own observations of the objector, derived from an official examination of a large number of all types, together with a brief history of the subject and some recommendations as to future action in regard to this vital factor in our national well-being.

"Reading this book one comes to the conclusion that the author's distinguishing characteristics are fairness, culture and good sense, and of them all, fairness seems to predominate. Real patriotism and a true comprehension of the philosophy of democracy might also be added.—The Public.

KEMP, HARRY

John Gregory $1.90

Absolutely sincere and realistic, Harry Kemp in his autobiographic novel John Gregory has achieved a work which may possibly be compared to Rousseau's Confessions and The Diary of Marie Bashkirtseff. The very earth is in this book, and all of human nature. The hero tells about himself in the first person, concealing nothing, revealing everything. In the story he spares himself least of all: every meanness, cowardice, shame or splendor of himself he lays bare as before the eyes of God, making the public his confessor. The result is a throbbing document, simple, naive, and absolutely straightforward.

KILMER, JOYCE (Editor)

Dreams and Images: An Anthology of Catholic Poets $1.60

A collection made for the first time of the best songs and lyrics from the many famous poets of recent years that belong to the Roman Catholic faith.

"Mr. Kilmer exercises admirable judgment and his work was well done. As it is the first anthology of its kind, its publication is really a matter of note and it will do much to satisfy a demand that has been existent for a long time.—The Baltimore News.

KRAUSE, KARL LUDWIG

What is the German Nation Dying For? $1.50

This work, begun while the author was still in Germany during the late war, was completed after he had taken refuge in Switzerland. It describes the author's consternation at the outbreak of the war, his studied opposition to it and his belief that great numbers of his countrymen shared his feelings.

"Those of us who firmly believe in the slow, though painful growth of human understanding, will welcome this book for its truth and its righteous anger. Germany's true friends have become articulate."—The Nation

LATZKO, ANDREAS

Men in War ..... (Now in The Modern Library) 75c

Men in War is a book of revolt against war. It is cast in the form of a series of sketches, fictional in the manner of their presentation, burning in the realism of their actual substance. Men in War has been universally proclaimed as one of the outstanding masterpieces of the last ten years. It is a book for all time.

"To read 'Men in War' is to taste deeply and unforgettably of the profoundest suffering of the human mind, to share an emotion which, in every land, will make war impossible some day."—The New Republic.

The Judgment of Peace: A Novel $1.75

Translated by LUDWIG LEWISOHN

The few critics who have already read The Judgment of Peace feel that Andreas Latzko has, in this gigantic novel, surpassed the superlative analytical quality, the faithful portrayal of incident and thought and execution that distinguished his "Men in War." It delineates in the heart of its hero the growth of the tragic conviction of the true character of war. It is a book whose story is of the immediate past but whose message is more particularly of the whole future of mankind. It is a stirring revelation of the embattled soul of man, a brave challenge of Today to Tomorrow. Like "Men in War," this novel will be read by our children and by their children.

LOWIE, ROBERT H.

Primitive Society ..... (Large 12 mo.) $3.00

There has been no book for years from which the general reader could get an idea of what the social life of primitive people was and is like. There has been an insistent demand for a new book that would include the new facts that have been accumulating for many years. With the discovery of hitherto unknown tribes and the more thorough investigation of others, the whole point of view of anthropological science has been revolutionized and theories once firmly held are now discarded. Dr. Lowie, Associate Curator of Anthropology at the Museum of Natural History, New York City, has supplied this demand in his volume "Primitive Society." This book describes customs of which the average reader never dreams—primitive mutual benefit societies and clubs, secret fraternities and initiations. There is a full discussion in non-technical language of what is known about the sex life, marriage usages and family organizations of the simpler races of humanity; of woman's status, governmental institutions, primitive notions of property, law and order . . . A special effort is made to represent the point of view of modern American scholars whose general positions have altered the whole of anthropological theory, yet which have been almost entirely neglected abroad and are little known outside of scientific circles even in the United States. The volume will be especially useful as a text book for sociological and anthropological classes and as a work of reference in related subjects, such as sociology, economics, history, politics, psychology and comparative jurisprudence.

MACKAYE, JAMES

Americanized Socialism $1.25

In eight chapters written in a lucid non-technical style, the author gives his reasons for thinking that the original principles of Yankee democracy applied to modern industrial conditions not only justify the program of Socialism but supply practical American tactics for bringing it to pass. This book has been very generally termed the clearest, sanest, most readable explanation of what American Socialism is and means. Thousands are asking where they can find an authoritative book on American Socialism, which at the same time will not require in them a professional equipment fully to understand. Socialists and non-Socialists say James MacKaye's book is now the standard work on American Socialism.

"With such an excellent hand-book as 'Americanized Socialism' to guide him, even the moderately intelligent and very busy American has no excuse for the absolute lack of distinction between Socialism, I.W.W.ism, Bolshevism, Syndicalism, etc., that marks his mental inferiority to the moderately intelligent and equally busy European."

*The Will of Song ..... 70c.

An entirely new form of drama designed to fill a specific need. The authors have combined their experience in pageantry and in the directing of Community Song in making this a perfect vehicle for communal artistic expression. Beautiful and simple costuming and effective lighting and appropriate music are indicated for use in production. The Will of Song has already been produced with great success at Buffalo, N. Y., and Orange, N. J., and will very likely be staged at Madison Square Garden, New York in the fall of 1919.

MODERN BOOKS OF VERSE, THE

In this series will be found exhaustive anthologies of the finest poetry of all countries. All of the anthologies are in English and the translations will be recognized, not only as adequate, but as masterpieces in themselves. The term "modern" in the title for this series does not mean that these anthologies do not include each country's poetry from the time of its beginnings. The term is merely used to indicate that particular stress is laid on the poetry of our time. The volumes in this series are uniform in really exquisite binding and general format. Each volume includes a critical introduction, a complete table of contents by authors, an index of first lines and titles of poems. Like the Great Modern Stories Series, these poetry anthologies are intended primarily for the general reader. In view of their recent compilation and their stressing of the modern note in poetry, they will undoubtedly prove useful as text books and as books for supplementary reading in high school and college courses in literature.

*The Modern Book of English Verse

Edited with an Introduction by RICHARD LE GALLIENNE

This anthology includes the best of the great harvest of English Verse from King Cnut to Rupert Brooke. All the familiar beauties and many fresh ones are here in this Modern Book of English Verse. The modern and contemporary note is particularly stressed. Mr. Le Gallienne's purpose was to compile an anthology comprising poems approved both by popular and critical applause. In this balancing of lofty values he has succeeded admirably.

THE MODERN LIBRARY

OF THE WORLD'S BEST BOOKS

Hand Bound in Limp Croftleather, only 75c. per copy. Postage 6c. per copy extra

TWO years ago, the Modern Library of the World's Best Books made its appearance with twelve titles. It was immediately recognized, to quote the New York Times, "as filling a need that is not quite covered by any other publication in the field just now." The Dial hastened to say "The moderns put their best foot forward in the Modern Library. There is scarcely a title that fails to awaken interest and the series is doubly welcome at this time." A week or so after the publication of the first titles, The Independent wrote: "The Modern Library is another step in the very right direction of putting good books into inexpensive form," and the clever Editor of the Chicago Daily News, in a long review, concluded: "The Modern Library astonishes the cynical with the excellence of its choice of titles. You could stand before a stack of these books, shut your eyes and pick out the right one every time." Despite this enthusiasm, in publishing circles it was considered impossible to continue the sale of these attractive Hand Bound Limp Croftleather books, printed in large clear type on good paper, at any price under One Dollar a volume. But the large number of intelligent book buyers, a much larger group than is popularly supposed, has not only made possible the continuation of this fine series at the low price of Seventy-five Cents a volume, but has enabled us progressively to make it a better and more comprehensive collection. There are now eighty-four titles in the series and from eight to fifteen new ones are being added each Spring and Fall. And in mechanical excellence, too, the books have been constantly improved.

Many distinguished American and foreign authors have said that the Modern Library is one of the most stimulating factors in American intellectual life. Practically everybody who knows anything about good books owns a number of copies and generally promises himself to own them all . . . One of the largest book stores in the country reports that more copies of the Modern Library are purchased for gifts than any other books now being issued.

The sweep of world events has, of course, been a contributing influence to our success. Purposeful reading is taking the place of miscellaneous dabbling in literature, and the Modern Library is being almost daily recommended by notable educators as a representative library of modern thought. Many of our titles are being placed on college lists for supplementary reading and they are being continuously purchased by the A. L. A. for Government camps and schools.

The list of titles on the following five pages, (together with the list of introductions written especially for the Modern Library) indicates that our use of the term "Modern" does not necessarily mean written within the last few years. Voltaire is certainly a modern of moderns, as are Samuel Butler, Francois Villon, Theophile Gautier and Dostoyevsky.

Many of the books in the Modern Library are not reprints, but are new books which cannot be found in any other edition. None of them can be had in any such convenient and attractive form. It would be difficult to find any other editions of any of these books at double the price. They can be purchased wherever books are sold or you can get them from the publishers.

MOORE, GEORGE

A Story Teller's Holiday

A limited edition for private circulation only, consisting of 1200 numbered copies . . Irish chroniclers relate many stories of the midnight triumphs of the Saints over temptations and these stories still linger on in many various forms even to the present day, amongst the peasantry. Mr. George Moore was fortunate enough to meet Alec Trusselby, the traditional story teller, and has transcribed his folk-tales in Trusselby's own words. In addition, Mr. Moore, moved by the spirit of emulation, acquiesced in Trusselby's request that the London story-teller should tell him tales and has set them down here with the others. Originally subscribed for at $6.75 a copy, the edition has been entirely sold.

*Avowals

A limited edition for private circulation only and consisting of 1200 numbered copies . . . Besides Mr. George Moore's thoughts on the art of prose narrative, there will be found in this book chapters in which his life in Paris is related in detail; the incident which brought him into Parisian literary society and the accident that carried him out of it when he was about to abandon the English language for the French . . . The subscription price is Eight dollars a copy.

MORDELL, ALBERT

The Erotic Motive in Literature $1.75

Mr. Mordell psycho-analyzes some of the world's greatest novelists and poets by a novel interpretation of their writings. Mr. Mordell develops his idea of the unconscious in its effect on an author's work, in an entirely non-technical and entertaining manner.

"While literary application of the methods of psycho-analysis developed by Freud is by no means new, Albert Mordell gives us the most extended study of this kind yet attempted in English....Writing with abundant enthusiasm, Mr. Mordell expects to shock his readers by his frankness in dissecting the inner life of the great writers....And, as all things in the Freudian pholosophy lead to sex, all love stories—in the Freudian terminology "erotic" is applied to any story dealing with love—represent the author's repressions on this phase of life....Our author has presented numerous facts of interest. His presentation, if checked by the criticisms of American philosophers, is suggestive as to the methods of the system."
—Boston Herald.

MORLEY, CHRISTOPHER (In Collaboration with BART HALEY)

*In the Sweet Dry and Dry.....(with 8 Illustrations by Gluyas Williams) $1.50

This entertaining romance deals with the effort of a high-minded, moderate drinker to keep the nation at least slightly moistened. Those who have read Morley's "Shandygaff", "Parnassus on Wheels", "The Haunted Book-Shop", etc. will agree that this hilariously funny book is in his very best vein. Beneath the sparkling comedy lies a vein of serious satire. Mr. Morley is fast being recognized as one of our few real philosophical humorists and in In The Sweet Dry and Dry he has enhanced his position as a humorous critic of our fads and foibles.

MYERS, GUSTAVUS

The History of Tammany Hall .....(large 12 mo) $2.50

This revised edition of one of the most significant histories of American political activity, covers the period from the date of the organization of the Society of St. Tammany in 1789 to the beginning of the last year of John Purroy Mitchell's term as Mayor of New York City. This volume places at the disposal of every library and of every student a comprehensive and up-to-date survey of what has long been recognized as the most highly organized political machine in the United States.

"The book is not a homily, but a sober recital of cold facts which it behooves everyone who would retain his faith in popular government to ponder deeply....It is a credit to the publishers who have now lent their name to it."—The Nation.

The German Myth $1.00

New facts, statistically proved, showing conditions in Germany to be the very opposite of what we have been led to believe. Mr. Myers, always the accurate, painstaking historian, proves that immorality, crime and poverty are greater in Germany than in any other European country or than in the United States.

"If the reader is really curious to know the facts as a practical sociologist, he should get Mr. Myers' little book and read the official figures. I venture to think that he will stand amazed."—New York Herald.

O'NEIL, GEORGE

The Cobbler In Willow Street and Other Poems ..... (Boards) $1.25

Introduction by ZOE AKINS.

A volume of verse of magic beauty. Zoe Akins says that George O'Neil, with the inspiration and clear-sightedness of youth,—he is only twenty-one—brings back to today's turbulent world the loveliness, the dreams and colors that are the saving reality of this sometimes too realistic age.

O'NEILL, EUGENE

The Moon of the Caribbees and Six Other Plays of the Sea (Boards) $1.35

In this volume, in addition to the play giving it its title, will be found "Bound East for Cardiff", "The Long Voyage Home", "In the Zone", "Ile", "Where the Cross is Made" and "The Rope". This is the first collection of Mr. O'Neill's plays to be presented in book form . . .

Eugene O'Neill is generally recognized as one of the very few great American playwrights.

"This volume places Mr. O'Neill definitely among the handful of American dramatists whose future is of genuine importance to our theatre."—The Nation.

Chris Christopherson ..... (Boards) $1.50

Beyond the Horizon ..... (Boards) $1.50

Mr. O'Neill's first long plays which are to be produced in New York during the winter of 1919. As the publication of the books is to be simultaneous with the production of the plays, it is deemed advisable to omit any synopses.

ORSI, PIETRO

The History of the World from Waterloo to the Marne ..... (octavo) $3.50

Introduction by GEORGE M. TREVELYAN

A history of the world from momentous Waterloo of 1815 to the Marne of 1915. Orsi, recognized by the best minds of Europe as the greatest Italian historian and one of the greatest historians the world has produced, has, in this volume, written a history whose facts and philosophy furnish an invaluable contribution to historical literature. It is a forward-looking volume. In his style and his interpretation of events Pietro Orsi has written a fascinating book as well as a monumental history.

George M. Trevelyan, distinguished English publicist and historian, writes that the presentation of the "age of revolution and ideas—from 1815 to 1870—is enthralling," and that the entire volume in its "acuteness of generalization, accuracy, sanity, fairness and sense of proportion is a credit to history....the interests and the safety of our land and indeed the interest and safety of the whole world require that modern history should be extensively and intelligently taught in the schools and colleges. The facts and generalizations contained in such a book as Orsi's ought to be familiar to every educated Englishman."....This appraisal by a great

Englishman of the Italian's history of the greatest century in world development, should because of its searching analysis, its keen deduction and splendid manner of presentation, meet with an equal and full American appreciation.

PATER, WALTER

Sketches & Reviews ..... (Boards) $1.25

This is the first collection of Pater that has appeared since the "Essays from The Guardian" published posthumously, nearly 25 years ago. It contains nine essays in the form of book reviews expressing Pater's supple and distinctive judgment on the work of contemporary writers in the late eighties. The names of all of these writers, Flaubert, Oscar Wilde, George Moore, etc., have since become as well known as that of Pater himself.

"This is a book heartily to be commended to the lover of Pater. The papers are distinguished by their careful, elaborate and polished style. They are little essays such as only Pater could write".—San Francisco Chronicle.

PENGUIN SERIES, THE

In this series will appear new books of distinguished literary value that have never before been published in book form. While the first six volumes in this series have not introduced to the American reading public any authors unknown to them, the two fall volumes will present two hitherto untranslated stories by Eduardo Zamacois, one of the greatest of living Spanish novelists, and George O'Neil, a young American poet . . . Though it is difficult to find material of sufficiently unusual literary value to place in the same series with books by Henry James, Lafcadio Hearn, Walter Pater, etc., every effort is being made to discover it. The Penguin Series offers a home to short novels and to collections of poems, plays, short stories and essays of true worth. Preference will be given to living American authors. The volumes are attractively bound in gay colored boards with light vellum backs. The paper is of superior quality, the type large, specially set up and printed, the margins wide, and the general format dainty and attractive. At least two new titles will be added to the Penguin Series each Spring and Fall.

A Few Appreciations of the Penguin Series

This being a new series and not so universally known as the famous Modern Library, a few appreciations culled from the hundreds which have been written by the most prominent literary critics in America are appended:

"That attractive new series of books known as the Penguin Series".—The Dial.

"Boni and Liveright have inaugurated another noteworthy sequence of books that have been previously out of reach of most American readers. The Penguin Series publishes in attractive print and binding, new books of special literary appeal".—The Independent.

"The books are admirably manufactured. They ought to rival, if not exceed, the same publisher's Modern Library in popularity. The issue of good books in permanent form at a low price is a distinct public service that should reap a full reward of success."—New York Evening Sun.

"With such a promising beginning, the literary public will await the coming of the later books of this series with marked interest."—Los Angeles Times.

"The publishers of the Modern Library have again become benefactors of belles lettres in publishing the Penguin Series."—Chicago Tribune.

"This series is to consist, in the words of the publishers, of books of distinguished literary value that have never before been published in America. Both of these qualifications are possessed by the present volumes."—The Nation.

"Having given us the Modern Library with its interesting array of books at an exceedingly moderate price, its publishers have initiated the Penguin Series that promises to fill a quite definite field of its own and to fill it quite charmingly."—New York Times.

"Enter the Penguin. Thrice welcome to this new series. In size, appearance and matter these volumes are ideal for the Christmas time."—Cincinnati Times Star.

"Aside from fine literary character of which the first four volumes are a promise and an assurance, the Penguin Series is marked by excellent craftsmanship."—Philadelphia Record.

"The success which came to the Modern Library has led its publishers to undertake the publishing of another series which doubtless will be equally remarkable as a publishing experiment."—Baltimore Sun.

"The publishers have every reason to be proud of their new venture. The Penguins are mighty good looking books. The Modern Library had better look to its laurels. I am glad the Penguins have arrived and hope they have come to stay. May they increase and multiply."—Albany Knickerbocker Press.

"The latest surprise from these enterprising publishers is the new Penguin Series. The format is charming."—Christian Century.

"This attractively bound series of volumes is initiated for the purpose of offering a uniform dress to books of literary value that have never before been published in America. The field before the publishers is attractively wide and they have made a good beginning in its cultivation."—New York Post.

"The Penguin Series is worthy of the book-lover's sincere regard."—Philadelphia North American.

"All that should be necessary to make these tastefully bound volumes, beautifully printed on fine paper, highly popular, is to maintain their good standard of excellence in the literary contents."—New York Tribune.

"The aim of the publishers, it seems to me, in beginning the Penguin Series is not altogether eleemosynary, but there is just enough idealism in the venture to inspire me with the hope that it may prove sufficiently remunerative to encourage the young firm to extend the series. These books have afforded me a special pleasure. I enjoy glimpses of writers whose very aspect is arresting, and a variety of impression and adventure that is rarely to be met with in newer books."—New York Sun.

PERTWEE, ROLAND

The Old Card $1.60

Roland Pertwee has heretofore been known chiefly for short stories of much charm and grace, many of which have been published in this country. The Old Card is his second novel to be published within the year in the United States. It is a delightful narrative of the declining years of an old English actor, his sudden re-encounter with his youthful love and the pleasant romance of his adopted daughter —as modern as he is old fashioned.

POUND, EZRA

Instigations ..... (large 12 mo) $3.00

Ezra Pound suffered the misfortune of achieving such special perfection in very nearly his initial efforts, that he became immediately traditional. He attained the somewhat thorny crown of classicism and the fate of classics in this busy world is to be universally praised—and not so widely read. But don't take him for granted. Don't be a friend of a friend of Ezra Pound. Stop knowing about him—read Instigations. It is an expression of the fullness of Pound's appreciation and the depth of his rare and imaginative critical faculty. Here are the verses and the living studies of French poets,—La Forgue, Jammes, Romain, Rimbaud; a vitalized analysis of the work of Henry James, and a piercing, understanding discussion of the looming figures in modern letters that acts like a searchlight.

REED, JOHN

Ten Days That Shook The World.... (Profusely illustrated, maps documents, etc., large 12 mo) $2.00

A moving picture of those thrilling days in Petrograd. According to practically all authorities, the most important book on Russia that has appeared since the overthrow of Czardom.

"As a source of evidence and original documents, 'Ten Days That Shook The World' is unsurpassed for the period it covers, and seems likely to remain so for some time to come. It is a thorough and painstaking resume. The flood of understanding makes a complete and suggestive picture that will hold varying meanings for different men. It is a book that cannot be ignored by friends or enemies of the present government of Russia."

—The New Republic.

The Sweep of the Russian Revolution, With appendix entitled What Is Bolshevism ..... (large 12 mo) $2.00

Almost alone among journalists, John Reed has guessed right about the Russian Revolution. This is a vital and important fact to consider when reading the sequel to his first great book on the Russian Revolution. His new book tells the first connected story of the Russian Revolution from its beginning in 1915 right down to the present day; written by an American Socialist who saw the Revolution at its climax, who knew the Revolutionary leaders, who witnessed the Rising of the Proletariat and what preceded it. Do you want to know: What is Bolshevism? What are the Soviets and how did they begin? How did the Russian workingman become Bolshevik and why did the Bolsheviki dissolve the Constituent Assembly? What happened at Brest-Litovsk and afterward? No student of world affairs can afford to be without this book for it explains present day Europe and what is to come—what the Revolution means and what is happening now; what were and are the relations between the Allies and the Soviet Government; what kind of a government is the Soviet Republic. Who Denikin, Kolchak and Tchaikovsky are and what they want. This book contains documents and diplomatic correspondence of the greatest importance here published for the first time.

SALTUS, EDGAR

The Paliser Case $1.60

A new novel by the author of "Imperial Purple", "Historia Amoris", etc. A book to be recommended to lovers of literary champagne, who like the sparkle and satire of Max Beerbohm or the early "Green Carnation" manner of Robert Hichens. Probably no other American writer could have written this book in which a genuinely great artist deftly sets about to concoct a "thriller". The resulting drama of gold, of pain, of curious crime and the heart of a girl is a fine achievement.

"Cassy Cara is a wholly delightful girl and the development of the plot of 'The Paliser Case' is piquant and most engaging. The book holds the reader's interest from cover to cover."—Review of Reviews.

SALTYKOV, MIKHAIL Y. (N. Shchedrin)

A Family of Noblemen $1.75

Translated by A. YARMOLINSKY

This novel is one of the recognized masterpieces of the golden age of Russian fiction. It occupies as permanent a position in Russian literature as "Brothers Karamazov", "Fathers and Sons" and "Anna Karenina". It is the story of the decay of a noble family. A remarkable study of the influence of heredity, environment and education. It is in this novel that the famous Yudushka appears, the Russian Pecksniff.

"Phychologically and sociologically the story is a masterpiece."—Reedy's Mirror.

SHAW, BERNARD

The Sanity of Art 75c

The Sanity of Art will continue to live as long as Bernard Shaw is read, for it contains in succinct form the best expression of Shaw's views on writing, painting and music and incidentally also his views on our laws and their usefulness and uselessness.

"It is useless to review this book which is itself only an extended review. Why not read the book? It is worth it. Its first publisher was almost financially ruined by its publication. It was worth that too."—New York Call.

SINCLAIR, UPTON

Jimmie Higgins $1.60

This profound sociological novel by the author of "The Jungle" might properly be termed the epic of the workingman. It is a colorful romance of the struggles, temptations and decisions of an every day workingman, during the searching and dramatic time just passed, and passing.

"The first hundred pages of this book with their portrait of Jimmie, are enough to justify the author in thinking this his best book."—The Review.

SMYTH, CLIFFORD

The Gilded Man $1.60

An arresting story of mystery, love and adventure and the search for hidden treasure, based on the famous legend of the El Dorado. Combined with a striking plot of absorbing love interest, through its pages flows a vein of genial and soothing humor.

"The thing seems impossible but it is actually a fact that Clifford Smyth has discovered a new theme for a novel. Both in plan and in execution, the story is excellent."—The Bellman.

SPADONI, ADRIANA

The Swing of the Pendulum $1.90

Thomas Hardy, watching the play of destiny, made Tess of the D'Urbervilles a "study of a pure woman", and tried to free woman from the penalty of man-made standards of judgment.....The Swing of the Pendulum is a sincere and keenly analyzed life history of a modern American woman who quite naturally takes her place in the world of work, and whose mind is only indifferently concerned with sex. Yet, she swings through the arc of traditional and fundamental desire of woman for home and children—this, after a marriage in which she plays unsuccessfully the role of friend and philosopher to her husband's passion; and a love affair whose intense emotional quality does not suffice . . . In the end—is it peace, is it happiness, is it life's fulfillment to which the Swing of the Pendulum brings her? Miss Spadoni has freed her Jean from man-made standards and limitations, but can Jean be freed from her own insistent and inherited womanhood? No other American novel has attempted such a theme or given so clear an insight into the lives of women as they are when they are not posing for men and other women; none has offered such a candid, penetrating portrayal of man's attitude towards sex and man and woman's true relationship. The Swing of the Pendulum is a fascinating, engrossing story written with livest humor, with understanding, with illuminating flashes of the real motives that actuate us and lift the characters out of the pages into the circle of our own friends and acquaintances. A great feminist novel, but a greater novel of modern womanhood.

STEARNS, HAROLD E.

Liberalism in America: Its Origin, its Temporary Collapse, its Future (large 12 mo) $1.75

No thoughtful man or woman can neglect or ignore this book. It is a study of the fragile structure of American Liberalism as it existed before the war; the sudden disintegration of that Liberalism before the pressure of war hysteria; its present pitiful status. Mr. Stearns, former associate Editor of the Dial, writes in perfect goodtemper and takes the position that Liberalism—here defined as a definite tolerant and rationalistic attitude of mind, rather than as a specific political and economic creed—is a precious asset of civilized community life. He tries to show how desperately urgent is the re-emergence of that attitude of mind if the next twenty years of economic turmoil is not to be an era of brutal dogmatism, violence and tyranny. As a nation, as acute abservers have pointed out, we are prone to self-deception and to the illusion of vanity; so for most of us this book will come as a sobering and valuable corrective.

SUDERMANN, HERMANN

Iolanthe's Wedding ..... (Boards) $1.25

Iolanthe's Wedding is frankly a love story, yet it is more than a love story. It is a scrupulously exact analysis of a group of characters whose every action, almost, can find reflection in a different setting in every-day life. In the original it is almost as popular as the author's "Song of Songs".

"An intensely personal and delightfully told narrative."—Richmond Evening Journal

TASSIN, ALGERNON

The Craft of the Tortoise ..... (Boards) $1.50

This four-act play is a history of men and women. Women gradually emerge from their slavery to men by plodding steadily, tortoise-like, in one direction. They are compensated for their weakness by sex exploitation and trickery. Having by instinct acquired the habit, can they give it up even if they wish? May they not beat men in the race if men give them their new rights and their old privileges at the same time? This play, laughable as its situations are, deals seriously with some fundamental matters in our artificial human society.

TILLIER, CLAUDE

My Uncle Benjamin $1.75

30 Full Page Illustrations by EMIL PREETORIUS

A rollicking, witty, satirical French classic. Uncle Benjamin is a picturesque French gentleman of a period far past. He is a genial, good-humored bon-vivant. In his many-sided make-up, he is also a deep thinker with a keen sense of the absurdities and prejudices of society which he mocks at and ridicules in Rabelaisian humor.

"Uncle Benjamin has long since taken its place alongside of those immortal masterpieces, 'Don Quixote', 'Tom Jones' and 'The Pickwick Papers'. It is a book that belongs to the ten foremost volumes of the world's humor."—Chicago Daily News.

TOMPKINS, RAYMOND S.

*The Story of the Rainbow Division $1.60

Introduction by Major General CHARLES T. MENOHER

This is the first and the official story of the most famous of all American Divisions, recruited from twenty-six States and the D. of C. It is a stirring account of all of its battles—The Ourcque, The Meuse, The Champagne Offensive, The Argonne,—through to the occupation of Germany. The book contains valuable appendixes showing the original and changed personnel of the Division, casualties, material captured, etc.

TROTZKY, LEON

The Bolsheviki and World Peace $1.50

A profound analysis of the causes that led to the World War. Its meaning from the international Socialist point of view and a forecast of the big changes to come about as a result of the war.

"A reading of this volume is advised to all who would authoritatively know at first hand, what the Bolsheviki are seeking to accomplish. It will greatly illumine and instruct."

—New York Tribune

THE VAN LOON HISTORIES FOR CHILDREN

Historical education during the last hundred years has consisted of dates, facts and the records of famous generals. This series will print few dates, the smallest number of facts and the shortest possible record of forgotten conquerors. These histories will try to explain how events developed and grew along the lines which led up to our present era. In short, the sequence of human progress will be the main topic of all nine volumes. The first book tells of original man in the wilds of Europe. The last page shows modern man and explains how he was bound to develop into the sort of creature we find him to be. There is no reason why a modern intelligent boy or girl should be less fascinated by the story of humanity's growth than by the account of the development of the steam-engine.
